ADLER & COLVIN

Jacob Dougherty

Associate

Jacob Dougherty advises clients on a broad variety of matters involving nonprofit and tax-exempt organizations, with a focus on corporate governance and federal and state tax issues.

EDUCATION

- J.D., magna cum laude, University of Pittsburgh School of Law, 2022; Lead Executive Editor, University of Pittsburgh Law Review
- B.A., cum laude, American University, 2012

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS

Mr. Dougherty is a member of the American Bar Association (Taxation Section).

SPEAKING & TEACHING

Mr. Dougherty was a research and teaching assistant for Professor Philip Hackney. He was also a co-author of "Special Committee Report" in the Harvard Forum on Corporate Governance (February 2024).

PRIOR EXPERIENCE

Prior to joining Adler & Colvin, Mr. Dougherty was a corporate associate at Debevoise & Plimpton LLP in New York City, where he advised international and domestic public and private companies on a variety of matters, including corporate governance, joint ventures, and mergers and acquisitions.

Prior to law school, Mr. Dougherty was the executive director of a historic preservation and community development organization and was named to the National Trust for Historic Preservation's 2019 list of 40 Under 40: People Saving Places.

OUTSIDE THE OFFICE

Outside of the office, Mr. Dougherty enjoys playing tennis, attending plays, and following Formula 1.

CONTACT INFORMATION

jdougherty@adlercolvin.com

(415) 421-7555

FAX (415) 421-0712

BAR ADMISSIONS

Mr. Doughterty is admitted to the bar in the State of New York.